

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A recording method and drive for optical storage media. The method inserts or replaces a special pattern in a recording EFM signal before the recording process is interrupted. Therefore, the special pattern is recorded either before or on the 5 interrupted position. The starting position of the succeeding recording process is located by searching for the special pattern.